Campus Political Party Refers 'Primary' Motion To Committee

by Mary Weddle

THE COLONIAL CAMPUS Party defeated a motion this week to recommend to the Student Council that a mock presidential primary poll be included on the ballot for Student Council elections.

Instead, the motion was rephrased and referred to the CCP platform committee.

Cameron Pippitt, in making the motion, stated that a tie-in with national issues would develop more interest in the Student Council election, especially among the older students of the University.

Stanley Heckman, in debate on the proposal, pointed out that such a poll, if held in conjunction with the Student Council elections, would draw people to vote who are not interested enough in campus affairs to know the candidates and issues in the elections. Mr. Heckman stated that the Student Council election should not be incidental to a mock presidential primary.

A tie vote on the motion was broken by party chairman Roger Stuart who voted against the motion. Mr. Stuart's reasons were: people who vote in the Student Council elections should be those who have knowledge of the Student Council candidates and the issues involved. Also, Mr. Stuart stated that such a poll would cause too much extra work if held in conjunction with Student Council elections. He pointed out that the elections are held near the end of the term. Therefore, he felt that a presidential primary poll should be separate from the Student Council elections.

A motion was then made to set up a committee of five to consider the feasibility of setting up a presidential primary poll to be taken by the Colonial Campus Party.

Mr. Heckman pointed out that the Colonial Campus Party by its name and its constitution is, in fact, a campus political party not connected in any way with national politics. Because of this, he felt that such a poll could not rightfully be conducted by the party. The motion was withdrawn.

The party passed a new motion that the suggestion to hold a presidential primary poll be referred to the platform committee for possible inclusion in the CCP platform for next year. In line with this, Mr. Stuart appointed a new platform committee, because the previous one was non-functioning. The new committee consists of Dottie Williams, chairman; Marty Gersten, Cameron Pippitt, Harold Boerlin and Charlie Landon. They were instructed to present a tentative platform to the party at the next meeting.

Plans for the CCP nominating convention were presented by the nominating committee chairman Stanley Heckman.

Mr. Heckman's committee plans to have a credentials committee checking each person's eligibility to vote. The convention will be opened by a keynote speaker who will outline the party's accomplishments, to be followed by a period of debate on qualifications of persons who are nominated.

Nominating speeches will be limited to five minutes for candidates for the Student Council executive committee and three minutes for all other candidates. The Chairman of the party, Roger Stuart, will act as chairman of the Convention.

Delts Capture Top IFC Sing Trophies

• DELTA TAU DELTA captured first place in the annual Interfraternity Council Sing last Friday night in Lisner auditorium.

The fraternity's winning selections were "Lo, A Voice to Heaven Sounding" and Delta Shelter.

Ken Larish was selected the best director of the evening for his performance in leading the Delts to first place.

Phi Sigma Kappa won second place with its renditions of "Navy Hymn" and "Phi Sig Brothers," and was directed by Hain Swope. Third place went to Alpha Epsilon Pi with Bernie Karmel directing that group in "Alm Mater" and "Adam."

Master of Ceremonies for the evening was the Colonial's new football coach Bill Elias. He regaled his audience with jokes and a practical demonstration in the art of punting a football.

Judges

The Sing judges were: George Messic, Chorus Director at Bethesda-Chevy Chase High School; Mrs. John Wright Harvey, of National City Christian Church, and Whitford L. Hall, Minister of Music at the First Congressional Church of Washington.

Charlie Mays

Charlie Mays was also presented the Alpha Epsilon Pi award as the Outstanding IFC delegate of the year.

Sigma Chi was awarded the Sigma Chi Scholarship Improvement Trophy by Dr. Don C. Faith, director of Men's Activities, for showing the greatest improvement in scholarship between the spring and fall semesters 1959.

Alpha Epsilon Pi received the IFC award for the best scholastic average gained during the spring and fall semesters of 1959.

May Day Positions Open To Students

• MAY DAY, THE event which honors the May Queen and which announces the results of the Student Council elections, the publications editors and the new Mortar Board members plus other honorary initiates will be held May 6th in Lisner.

Gayle Cook, Council Activities Director, has announced that petitioning is now open for May Day. Positions are open for Queen's Chairman, Voting Booth Chairman, Invitations Chairman, and Program Chairman. Petitions may be obtained in the Student Activities Office in the Student Union Annex starting today and extending through Wednesday, March 30.

Earlier this year, there was a question as to whether or not Lisner Auditorium could be used for May Day.

ALSA Schedules Joint Conference

• THE AMERICAN LAW Student Association will hold a joint circuit conference on March 26 and 27 on the main campus of American University.

The ALSA is divided into circuits, Washington being in the third circuit and Pennsylvania and New Jersey in the third. The accredited law schools in these two circuits will each have two official delegates representing them at this conference; however, it is open to all law students wishing to attend.

The program will begin Saturday morning with Charles J. Zinn, legislative counsel for the House Committee on the Judiciary, as guest speaker at an opening general assembly. Mr. Zinn will discuss "Legislation and the Lawyer." He received his B.A. and his LL.B. from Fordham University and his LL.M. and S.J.D. from Georgetown University. He is presently teaching legislative law at the University.

On the agenda for Saturday afternoon is a guest panel to discuss "Instanity as a Defense" moderated by Richard Arens, a lecturer at the Washington College of Law. The panel will include the Honorable Oliver Gasch, U. S. District Attorney for the District of Columbia; Abe Krash, the attorney for the defense in the Durham Case; Dr. Winfield Overholzer, superintendent of St. Elizabeths Hospital, and Reverend S. Oley Cutler, professor of law at Fordham University.

Saturday night a banquet will be held at the Roger Smith Hotel with Associate Justice Tom C. Clark of the U. S. Supreme Court as guest speaker.

Potomac Articles

• MANUSCRIPTS FOR THE spring issue of the "Potomac" should be submitted to Andy Brown, Madison Hall, or left in the "Potomac" Box in the Student Union Annex by March 25. Subjects are: prose, poetry, art work, and one-act plays.

Speaker's Ratings Tell Novice Story

• UNIVERSITY NOVICE debaters last weekend went undefeated, but placed second on speaker's point to Army in the Pittsburgh Novice tournament.

Each negative and affirmative team from both George Washington and Army had identical 4-0 records.

Mollie Harper and Sue Carter, the University's affirmative team won first place in their division on speaker's points. But Bob Aleshire and Stan Remsberg, the University's negative team, finished second to Army on speaker's points.

The University's two-team total was not enough to overcome the two-team total compiled by Army's speakers.

Miss Harper and Miss Carter were victorious over Pittsburgh, Purdue, Duquesne and Franklin and Marshall teams.

Aleshire and Remsberg captured victories over Capital University, Penn State, Carnegie Tech and Richmond.

Debaters Get 'Point' Invitation; Novices Place Second To Army

Capp, Daly Score High In Regionals

• UNIVERSITY DEBATERS Al Capp and Bill Daly cemented an invitation over the weekend to the West Point National Intercollegiate Championship tournament to be held April 21-23.

The two varsity debaters were working together as a team for the first time in their University career last Thursday, Friday and Saturday in the District 7 championship battle to determine the five best teams which would represent the district at West Point.

The University team won 13 ballots of the judges and lost three in the eight rounds of competition to place second, behind King's College at the tourney, held this year at American University.

Capp and Daly were selected by the debate coaches to work together in a bid for the national championship. Daly has been teamed for three years with Bill Stuart. And Capp has been Dave Aaronson's partner for two years. But the coaches decided that

High School Talkers At GW Today

• THE UNIVERSITY WILL host the Spring High School Discussion Conference beginning today.

Members of the speech department and University speech majors who have had discussion courses, along with high school faculty members, will act as moderators during the day.

Teams from approximately 15 area high schools in the District of Columbia, Maryland and Virginia will discuss "What should be the role of government in regulating organized labor?"

Capp and Daly, because they have attained the best speakers' ratings this year in their respective teams, would work as a strong combination in a bid for the national title.

In the district tournament both men received superior speaker's ratings, and Daly was chosen the second best speaker of the weekend behind Frank Harrison of first place King's.

This tournament required each team to argue both affirmative and negative sides of the debate question which was: "Resolved: That Congress should be given more power to reverse decisions of the Supreme Court."

In achieving their second place standing in the district, Capp and Daly received bids to the national tournament along with Kings College, the University of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania and Seaton Hall. Duquesne was chosen alternate.

The University pair received both of the judges' ballots to defeat William and Mary, Georgetown, Penn State, Duke, Pennsylvania and Rutgers. They received a draw with St. Joseph's and were defeated by King's, 2-0.

Daly with his regular partner Bill Stuart placed second in this same tournament last year and went to the West Point tournament where they won four debates and lost four.

During the regular season this year Daly and Stuart captured first place in the largest inter-collegiate tournament in the country at Northwestern.

Also during the regular season Capp and his regular partner, Dave Aaronson won the Dixie Classic tournament at Wake Forest.

The two teams together placed third at William and Mary this year and ranked as best two-team combination last week at Georgetown.

Lucky Strike's Dr. Frood reveals

A Foolproof Method for Rating Your College

Dear Dr. Frood: Do you believe in the theories that Shakespeare was actually either Marlowe or Bacon?

English Major

Dear English: All rot. I have done considerable research on the subject and can prove that Marlowe was actually Bacon, and that Bacon (who was a bit of a ham) was, in reality, Marlowe, and that Shakespeare, an itinerant grape squeezer who could neither read nor write, was, in fact, Queen Elizabeth!

Dear Dr. Frood: I have a very serious personal problem. I am secretly engaged to three students here. Just between you and me, however, they are all fools. I really love a certain Professor Bowdley, who is married. What should I do? Needless to say, this letter is not for publication.

Millicent Tweedley

Dear Millicent: Your secret is safe with me. I've left strict instructions not to print our correspondence. Confidentially, however, you'll never get Bowdley. I wrote Mrs. Bowdley about the situation, in order to advise you better, and she says Professor Bowdley is too old for you.

Dear Dr. Frood: Whenever I am with girls, I stutter. Frankly, I think it is because my parents never told me about the birds and the bees. What can I do?

A. W. Shucks

Dear A. W.: You had better read some books on the subject. I especially recommend Mildred Twiddle's "The Bees Are Your Friends," and Agnes Moffet's "Songs in the Treetops."

Dear Dr. Frood: Is there any accepted method for determining the academic ratings of American universities and colleges?

I. V. Leeger

Dear I. V.: Of course. Simply take the total number of graduates and divide by money.

Political Poll

• THE CCP MADE wise decisions in rejecting the motion to recommend to the Student Council that a mock presidential primary poll be included on the ballot for Student Council, and the motion for the CCP to hold a presidential primary.

In the first place, the Student Council at the George Washington University is in no way connected with either national politics or with a national political party. To imply that the Council elections are somehow connected to national politics would be misleading and false.

The Student Council was set up to deal with the wants and needs of the student body. Election of the officers of the Council should reflect the students' desires. If the election of the Student Council is somehow connected to national problems the purpose of the Council election will be subverted to some degree.

In the second place, the CCP should not get involved in national politics. As Mr. Heckman, a member of both the Student Council and the executive board of the CCP, pointed out, the CCP by its name and constitution is a campus political party not connected in any way with national politics. It would be unconstitutional for the CCP to hold such a poll.

Finally, there are in the process of being set up two organizations whose purposes will be to deal with national politics. These groups, the Young Democrats and the Young Republicans, will be more interested and will have more time to conduct a poll than the Student Council, which is already concerned with so many of the problems of the student body.

We believe that the students of GW, as those of any University, should be interested in national politics. Only in this way can we learn to take part in the directing of our country. However, the expression of this interest should not be through the Student Council, it should be through the Young Democrat and Republican organizations on this campus and in the cities where students reside.

Blankness Of 'World' Governs Art Theme

• "THE DOMINANT THEME of art today is the essential blankness of the universe. This is because we are in the dilemma of living in a universe where God is questioned," Robert E. Gajdusek, assistant professor of English, said

• THE TWELFTH ANNUAL Art Show sponsored by the University Art Club and Lisner Library is scheduled to open on April 10th in Lisner Library. The show is open to all University or Corcoran students and offers cash prizes. Entries in the four classes (oil, watercolor, graphics, and sculpture) will be accepted Monday, April 4, in the Student Activities Office. The entry fee per work is 50 cents, and the maximum per person is four entries. Oils must be stripped or framed and watercolor and graphics must be mounted. Entry blanks may be obtained in the Student Activities Office or at Corcoran School of Art.

at the third "This We Believe" program.

"This blankness, this meaninglessness," he continued, "is symbolized by the whiteness of the whale in Moby Dick. The beatniks of today have their philosophy of meaninglessness set forth in On The Road, where the characters have no defined direction.

"Despite such writings as Job or Exodus, there has been no resurgence of religion in the field of literature. Job could have depicted the plight of modern man if it had started at the end, where Job has nothing, and continued from there."

During the evening, Mr. Gajdusek read a statement of some of his beliefs, so that "we would have something definite to argue with." He believed, he said, that "the possession of a belief is justification for its being. It need not be defended nor discussed. I believe that reason and logic are not major elements of man's being, but merely modes.

"I believe in an immediate morality, which must be constantly redefined. I believe in my own words, before they are uttered, but not after.

"I believe in responsible individualism. The soul is violated when one lies to himself, but not when one lies to others. Therefore, I believe in the purity of the artist, who cannot lie within his art.

"I believe institutions are a sterile form, and modern man finds it more and more difficult to believe in them.

And finally, "Love is the complete omission of being. The man in love is in total focus with the world; the whole individual is in harmony. The genius, at the point of creation, feels love for all man," Mr. Gajdusek concluded.

Letters To The Editors

What was extremely amusing to many during the IFC Sing Friday night was quite tragic to seventeen men who worked many hours preparing the songs which they hoped might bring home a trophy. And I not bitter; I can understand that a dog climbing on a stage to join the singers would present a ridiculous picture, one which might appear funny. And I can understand how those in authority might not think quickly enough to inform the conductor of the circumstance and let him begin again. But what confuses me is that the management could not have prevented this and that those in a position to halt the German Shepherd chose not, rather they chose to giggle while those singing, dumb to the source of comedy and broken in spirit, floundered through their song.

/s/ Chuck Stanley

The editors agree with Mr. Stanley that the incident Friday was most unfortunate, and we do hope that this sort of thing can be prevented in the future.

The HATCHET should be commended on the excellent story regarding the dormitory elections. The issues and the explanations of the difficulties involved in this year's elections were made clear to all of us as well as pointed out to the Dormitory Council the changes that should be made to prevent this deadlock from occurring again next year.

David Aaronson, advocate of the Student Council, has proposed these changes and a vote will be taken in the two dormitories within the next month to amend the Constitution and clarify any ambiguous clauses. We hope, in this way to make next year's elections run smoothly and efficiently.

Junior Village's Needy Children Adopted By Religious Council

by Stanley Remsberg

• JUNIOR VILLAGE NEEDS help, and students of the University can contribute.

Junior Village is Washington's temporary shelter for abandoned and dependent children.

But, like many such projects, it is understaffed; and the University's Religious council is sponsoring a project to help.

To acquaint students with the problems and possible solutions, an orientation meeting will be held Tuesday at 5:15 pm in Building O.

Public Agency

Junior Village is an agency of the Public Welfare department in the District of Columbia and is located near Bolling Air Force Base. The children living there are abandoned, or have no other means of support or care.

Since its establishment in 1948, the number of children there has increased almost 900 percent. The work started with only 35 youngsters, but the number has climbed to nearly 440.

The children are received from the Police department's Women's bureau, the Child Welfare association and Public Assistance officers.

Large Turnover

Ranging in age from six months to nineteen years, they usually stay from three and one-half to five months at the village. There is a large variation in age and turnover of these youngsters and the village is short of personnel. The village needs all kinds of part-time, volunteer workers to help care for the youngsters.

This is where University students can come into the picture. All students are urged to do some individual volunteer work on this interfaith project.

Activities would include tutoring, counseling and helping children with problems, assisting in handicrafts and hobbies, directing some sports activities, assisting in the care of babies, teaching Sunday school and leading various outings and sightseeing trips.

Shanty Art Destined For 'Erin-Go-Blah'

• "UNLESS IRELAND IS able to break out of its cultural desert soon, it will become a place in which no artist will wish to live," Robert E. Reynolds told the Writers' club last Friday.

Mr. Reynolds, the club's St. Patrick's day celebration speaker, explained that "this cultural desert" has developed from the low standard of living of the Irish majority, and from the adamant censorship which every work is subjected to.

The Navy Personnel Department representative said Ireland is a poor country; the majority of its people are peasants, uneducated and forced "to scrape a meager existence from the unproductive soil."

They have no time or opportunity, he said, for seeing or for reading great literary works. Their great poverty has compelled them to exist in conditions sometimes "worse than those in which the American slaves lived. It is understandable then that out of this background emerges no monumental literature."

In the cities most of the peasants live in vast slums. The days are filled with the constant search for means of existence, he said. They have no time or patience to think of writers and their works.

"But even when rare writers such as Sean O'Casey and Yeats rose from this throng of illiteracy and produced great works that were acclaimed by the whole world," he said, "they were not permitted to publish them in their own country because they contradicted the teachings of the Irish church in introducing human emotions and motives, instead of the accustomed political themes."

This censorship has compelled all notable writers to move to other countries and leave Ireland

"to descend to this level of nonentity," he said, "broken only by the works of J. M. Synge," author of "The Playboy of the Western World," which caused indignant riots at its first showing.

Mr. Reynolds explained the great lack in modern literature as arising from the power of the church "which makes it impossible for the people to gain knowledge of modern works."

The only literature they experi-

HATCHET'S Error

• LAST WEEK'S HATCHET stating that Acting President Oswald S. Colclough, Vice Admiral (U.S. Navy-R.), has been recalled to active duty to be the chief U.S. Negotiator in "the coming naval armaments conference at Geneva," was in error.

President Colclough has been called to active duty, but he will serve as Principal Representative of the Defense Department on the United States Delegation to the United Nations sponsored International Conference on the Law of the Sea.

The controversy centers on two issues:

(1) Freedom of the seas in waters not claimed as national territory.

(2) Fishing rights in coastal waters adjoining fishing nations.

ence are Gaëlic epics handed down by word of mouth from generation to generation, he said.

Added to this, he said, is the fact that the young people are completely dominated by the old and have "no opportunity of seeing or hearing ideas that are different from those known to their grandparents."

ing invitations have been sent to the presidents of all the school organizations. The council asks for support and hopes that the movement might develop into a separate group.

The work is not difficult, the advantages are many, and the need is great. This, according to the Religious council would be a chance for students to help society while helping themselves.

Girls Dance Friday In 'J'

• "PARALLELS IN MUSIC and Dance" will be presented in Building J on Friday night at 8 pm by the three dance production groups.

Seventeen girls will show the comparable elements of basic materials, creative improvisation and form between music and dance. Beginning the program will be a demonstration of the similarities of "tuning-up," followed by the practice of specific techniques and variations of the scales. This will be done to the tune of "Yankee Doodle."

Putting the various expressions together, Jane Fiery, Joan Talbot and Sandy Agnew, accompanied by Dave Cohen on guitar, will dance to "This Little Light of Mine."

"Out of Focus," danced to the music of Shostokovich's "Age of Gold Polka," will show a study of focus developed into a street scene. A jam session improvisation of poetry will conclude the program.

The theme of "Parallels in Music and Dance" was selected because of the close relation of the two, said Joan Talbot, who is preparing the choreography. Music will be played by Dave Cohen, guitarist and Mr. Joseph Ott, pianist, and Carolyn Hauptman, recorder. Lorraine Meyerovitch will narrate this free University program.

• THE IFC PROM was quite a momentous event for many of the Phi Sigs. Lou Van Blos and Chio Ginger Thomas announced their engagement, Bart Crivella became the new president of Gate & Key and Charlie Mays, outstanding IFC delegate was initiated into Gate & Key. Helping them celebrate were Hain Swope with Theta Jeann Simon, Bill Carter with Sue Herbert, Cam Pippitt with ADPI Lynn Baumann, Terry Hall with Maureen Conrad, and recruit Charlie King with KKG Lee Jones.

The Deltas celebrated their IFC Sing victory with an Open House after the program in Lisner Friday night. Two new trophies were added to the new Shelter's sparsely filled trophy case as Ken Larish won the cup for Outstanding Director and the rest of the sing team won the First Place Sing Cup. Among the multitudes: Bill Howlin and Chio Judy Van Ness, John Whiting and PiPhi Marty Mueller, Tim Mead and DG Lynn Larin, Henry Mayo and KKG Elli Ahr, Jerry Cornelius and DG Liz McGarry, Ben Kitteridge and Theta Shirley Carpenter, Parke Avery and DG Hunter Duncan, Steve Ridgway and DG Rolly Boucher, John Calarco and KKG Pat Gilliam, Billy T. and KKG Joyce Ormsby, Phil Flint and DG Jane Gamel, Gene Beverly and Jane Biers, Ed Hino and Chio Marlene Sesso.

The dancing was interrupted several times during the evening for short renditions of Buddy Holly's "That'll Be the Day," and "Fats" Domino's "I Got a Whole Lot of Love." The Sing team also celebrated their victory by passing the brass loving trophy full of beer so that each of the members could take a swig from it.

Meanwhile up on the balcony—in the "choice" seats the Tekes whooped it up while Veep John Vogt and Zaeta Anita Smith (president of Madison Hall on the 13th ballot), Prexy Jon Moore and Lani Duncan and Al Hawkins and ADPI Liz Chapman played hide the bottle. After an extended hike to the parking lot and a journey up Pennsylvania Avenue the party was continued. Seen among those at the dance and later at the Tekehouse were Hank Engelbrecht and TriDelt Rhoda Miller, Dick Slavin and Carole Fageros, Andy Haas and ADPI Linda Williams.

Saturday night sun glasses were the order of the evening at the Sig Ep house and later at the IFC Prom. The brothers of SFE turned out in force with red tux jackets and many of their dates followed their lead with red dresses. The red men, trying to get an early start, had a swinging pre-dance, cocktail party at their house. Among those attending were Art Howard and KD Jean Ferrick, Fred Gauvreau and KD Nancy Davis, Gene Kuhl and Maryann Dempsey, Pete Morehouse and Shirley Tweedy, Chuck Putney and KD Janet Moyer, Chet Gray and fiance Thelma Jepperson and Larry Doyle and Rose Tagani.

Al Galiani came in a poor second, ably assisted by Margie Martin and Sue Wild. The Gathering (Jerry Peake and KD Margie Grey, Pete Mechanic and Penny Koiness, Dick Krafur and Peggy Skogen, Bob Corens and Dora Dasus, et al) saw Jerry Ramost and Louie Hoelman vie with each other in trying to find a parking place. After the dance, all migrated down to the Pike House for a bottle-finishing party (with no ice). Bill Scarlis and Barbara Lanyon announced their engagement in this aura of happiness.

It was a momentous occasion for the AEPis Friday night when they rose from fourteenth to third place in the IFC Sing (One would think they were first), when their sing director led the University in the singing of the song that made them famous (the Alma Mater), when they won the first place scholarship trophy and when they held their first party at the new house. Dancing to the music of Paul Frank and drinking from the third place cup were the main events of the evening. Merry among the scenemakers were Sing Director and "our faithful news editor," Roy and Linda, Harvey and Linda, Stanley and Laura, Harvey Goldfarb and Adrian Goodman, Bob Hirsch and Gamma Phi Sigma Gall Benjamin, Allyn Kilshelman and AEPi Soozie, Barry Gould and his bottle (!)

The brothers placed one member on the cot in the back, turned on the siren and sped to the nearest Hot Shoppe. WHO WENT TO THE PROM—AND WHY

"Hello," said the voice on the telephone. "This is Werther Sigafos. I sit next to you in psych. I'm kind of dumpy and I always wear a sweat shirt."

"I'm afraid I don't remember you," said Anna Livia Plurabelle.

"I'm the one whose lecture notes you've been borrowing for two years," said Werther.

"Oh, yes!" said Anna Livia. "What do you wish, Walter?"

"Werther," said Werther, "What I wish is to take you to the Junior Prom next April."

"But this is November 27, Westnor," said Anna Livia.

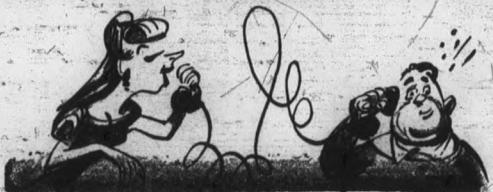

"Werther," said Werther. "Yes, I know, but you are so round and beautiful that I was afraid you might have a date already."

"As a matter of fact I do, Wingate," said Anna Livia.

"Werther," said Werther. "Oh, drat!"

Anna Livia did not really have a date, but she was expecting to be asked by Stewart Stalwart, athletic and BMOG, handsome as Apollo, smooth as ivory, wearer of faultless tweeds, smoker of Marlboro cigarettes which even without his other achievements would stamp him as a man with know-how, with a pleasure-oriented palate. If you think flavor went out when filters came in, try a Marlboro. This one brims with zest and zip and the good, mild taste so dear to those who smoke for the pure joy of it. Get yourself a pack of Marlboros and listen to your friends say, "There, by George, goes a smoker who knows a hawk from a handsaw."

But I digress. Anna Livia waited and waited for Stewart Stalwart to ask her, but two days before the Prom, to everybody's amazement, he asked Rose-of-Sharon Schwartz, a non-descript girl with pavement-colored hair and a briefcase.

Anna Livia immediately phoned Werther Sigafos. "My Prom date has come down with a dread virus," she said, "and I have decided to accept your invitation, Waldrop."

"Werther," said Werther. "Oh, goody ganders!"

The next day Anna Livia received a phone call from Stewart Stalwart. "My Prom date has come down with a dread virus," he said. "Will you go with me?"

"Certainly," she said and promptly phoned Werther and said, "I have come down with a dread virus and cannot go to the Prom with you, Whipsitch."

"Werther," said Werther. "Oh, mice and rats!"

So Anna Livia went to the Prom with Stewart and who do you think they ran into? Rose-of-Sharon with Werther, that's who!

Stewart had felt obliged to ask Rose-of-Sharon because she always did his homework, but she had weaseled out because she really wanted to go with Werther with whom she felt a great oneness because they were both so dumpy. He fell wildly in love with her at the Prom, and today they are married and run a very successful five-minute auto wash in New Bern, N. C.

Anna Livia and Stewart are happy, too. They are still juniors and have not missed a prom in sixteen years. © 1960 Max Shulman

This is the B-52. Advanced as it may be, this airplane has one thing in common with the first war-galleys of ancient Egypt... and with the air and space vehicles of the future. Someone must chart its course. Someone must navigate it.

For certain young men this presents a career of real executive opportunity. Here, perhaps you will have the chance to master a profession full of meaning, excitement and rewards... as a Navigator in the U. S. Air Force.

To qualify for Navigator training as an Aviation Cadet you must be an American citizen between 19 and 26½—single, healthy and intelligent. A high school diploma is required, but some college is highly desirable. Successful completion of the training program leads to a commission as a Second Lieutenant... and your Navigator wings.

If you think you have what it takes to measure up to the Aviation Cadet Program for Navigator training, see your local Air Force Recruiter. Or clip and mail this coupon.

Sigma Chi Wins

Sigma Chi romped to 51-31 win over the Moonlighters Sunday to take third place in the A League playoffs.

The Sigs led from the outset, as J. P. Donley opened up with two long jump shots and a foul shot before the Moonies could score on Monk Casper's one-hander. The Chimes never trailed, leading at the half 22-15, with Garfield and Donley doing most of the scoring for their teams.

The man to watch in the second half was Andy Guida, who couldn't seem to miss, scoring on twisting jumpers and layups, passing off to teammates for baskets, and coming down with key rebounds. SX completely dominated this half to bring home the win and third place.

Guida and Donley were high-scorers for the victors with 16 points each. Walt Garfield garnered 11 for the Moonies.

B League Title

In a game whose winner wasn't decided until the final 10 seconds, the Old Docs pulled out a well-earned victory over a scrappy but tired SAE, 38-36.

Possibly the turning point of the game was Pete Gallagher's fouling out of the SAE lineup with 1:45 left in the last quarter with the score knotted 35 all. After that, Tom Colmey scored on a free throw, and Bill Johnson added two more for the Docs before make its fourth straight appearance in this tourney on April 2 and 3. Ohio U., however, will not be present to defend its title.

GW opposition at the Greenbrier, Sam Snead's home club, will include Denison, Marshall, Pittsburgh, W&L, The Citadel, and Colgate.

In the past the Greenbrier has been a jinx for the Colonial linksters as no GW golf team has ever finished better than second.

Within the Southern Conference the Buff will encounter Richmond, William & Mary, VMI, VPI, W. Va., Davidson, and W&L, each in a dual match.

The season's climax occurs on May 3 and 4 at Mid-Pines, North Carolina, where the Buff will fight to repeat as Southern Conference champions.

The squad will trek along a rugged road in its quest for the title. Most formidable opposition will be Davidson, runner-up last year, and The Citadel and Furman, co-champions the year before. It is significant that these three teams reside in the Carolinas where the climate is conducive to golf early in March, thus giving them ample time to reach their peak.

All in all, the GW team is optimistic and anxious to extend its winning ways.

Elias Views Squad In Saturday Game

by Dave Segal

• COACH BILL ELIAS and all Buff Rooters will receive an indication of GW's football future this Saturday afternoon at 2:00 p.m.

The Colonials, who normally climax their spring practice with an alumni game, will stage an intra-quad scrimmage at the McLean High School gridiron. The reason for this break from the traditional is that Coach Elias needs this game to learn the capacity of his new charges.

Recently, at the IFC Sing, GW's youthful, determined coach declared his intentions of winning the Conference title and, in the near future, being invited to one of the post-season bowls such as the Gator Bowl. Elias was highly pleased with the audience's enthusiastic reactions. He said that the Colonials have a terrific fighting spirit and are the most conscientious group of athletes he's ever met. The coach also hoped that a similarly spirited crowd would turn out to see the Buff scrimmage.

The Colonials have already been practicing for some two weeks. At the last session, they began to run plays from their new formation—three slot backs with the quarterback taking the snap five yards behind the center. This formation is geared to a passing game. In practice the aerials have consistently found their marks.

Chuck Packan has been doing the quarterbacking for the first string thus far. Employing his terrific speed, Packan has gotten away on some fine runs for long yardage including a TD carry in the last scrimmage. John Caraciolo and Tom Haly have been running out of the halfback positions. Along with 240-pound John Wilt they comprise the tentative starting backfield.

Bill Hardy also is fighting for the number one quarterback post. He has been doing some excellent signal calling for the second team, and his pitching arm has been unerring. Hardy already can put a notch in that arm, earned by a beautiful 50-yard TD pass play to Lou DeSimone, second team half-back.

Injuries Harmful

The Buff line has been dealt some severe blows through injuries. Pete Wasilewski broke his hand; Alex Sokaris hurt his knee; Nick Anzelmi pulled muscle in his thigh; and Ellis Wissler injured his ankle.

All in all, the Colonials' performance on Saturday should be an indication of their response to the new coach and a hint of things to come on the gridiron. Tickets cost $1.00 at the athletic office or the gate. GW students may buy tickets for $.50.

Snow Interrupts Golfers' Practice

• WITH THE COMING of the 1960 golf season only one week away, the Buff duffers are wondering just what is going to happen next.

Late winter snows have prevented the Buff from practicing. The foul weather is weakening one of the squad's most potent weapons, the advantage of a home course.

The home course, Indian Spring Country Club, is by far the most difficult the Buff has ever used as a home course. The "Spring," as it is referred to by members of the team, is a golf course which commands respect, demanding both distance and accuracy. With its wide lakes, giant greens, woods, and well placed sand traps and shrubs, the course is a true test of skill for even the best of the touring professionals.

The Buff hopes to get in a practice round before it opens with Dartmouth on March 28. Dartmouth and Colgate are the Ivy opponents that the squad will face this year; both are perennial contenders for the Ivy League title.

Other non-conference opponents include Georgetown, American University and Ohio University. All three are considered solid teams with Ohio U. the strongest of the trio.

Ohio U. won the Greenbrier Invitational last year. The Buff will

Buff Basketball Inheritance

Followers of the Colonial basketball team have been treated to some very exciting play in the last few years. When the Buff first started playing basketball intercollegiately in 1907, they finished with a poor 0-9 record. But it is thrilling to watch them now as a winning team against the nation's best college fives.

Just a few years ago, the Colonials were sparked by two basketball greats, Walter "Corky" Devlin and Joe Holup. Paced by these two sensations of the roundball, the Buff rolled up an impressive 24-6 record in the 1954-55 campaign and finished second in the All-College Tournament behind the number one team in the country, San Francisco.

The 1958-59 five was a real tribute to the University and to basketball although its record 14-11, indicated not too much more than a mediocre season. However, in all but three of these losses the Colonials came within five points of the winners. In fact the Buff lost a total of 8 clashes by a total of only 21 points.

The 1958-59 edition of Colonial Basketball finished fourth in the nation in free throw percentage and tenth in field goal accuracy. These efforts were against some pretty good squads, for West Virginia and VPI were ranked three and four nationally in offense, and Jerry West made every All-American squad last year.

League Hopes Ride On Hill's Left Arm

By Seth Rosen

• THE CONFERENCE HOPES of the Buff baseballers ride on the left arm of Southpaw Dennis Hill. An Arlington resident, Hill, through much practice, has made himself not only the Southern Conference's top pitcher but also a leading All-American candidate.

Hill's college record has shown amazing improvement over his high school record. While in Wakefield High, he compiled a 15-7 mark in three seasons, but, since entering GW, he has suffered but one setback against twelve successive wins. Dennis attributes his improvement to added experience gained through summer league play with the local Federal Storage team. He has also mastered a curve ball which he delivers with an assortment of speeds. These two things have combined to make Hill a top flight pitcher.

The Buff depends on its pitching staff as its strong point. In addition to Hill, the Colonials have Frank Campana, Charlie Padgett, and newcomer Moe Hedetniemi to round out the staff. The team is strong down the middle with the only apparent weaknesses at first and third, where graduation has left a gap.

The prospects for this year are very bright. The toughest hurdle to the Conference championship will be Richmond which has its starting nine returning in tact from last season. West Virginia, again throwing its star pitcher Bill Chuma against the Colonials, is a team to look out for.

Hill feels that winning the conference crown this season will be a little tougher. He is sure that he will have to work harder for his victories to offset the loss of hitting power in some spots in the Buff lineup.

After he graduates, Hill would

Sticking his neck out a little, Dennis predicts "another Conference championship to add to the Buff collection," but he adds "We'll have to work a little harder for it this year."

Hawkers Clinch Mural Crown; 'Old Docs' Squeak Past SAE

by Roy DuBrow

The Hawkers became kings of the court Sunday, icing a League title with a fighting come-from-behind victory over a hustling Delta Tau Delta, 32-28.

The little kings were down 26-22 with only four minutes remaining, when Denny Hill set for two and Gene Burnett laid up two more to even the count at 26 all. The Deltmen were shaken by this quick change of position and never recovered as Jim Whitehead got their final basket after John Jackson pulled a three-point play on a driving layup and Red Fueller scored on a foul shot for the new champs.

Jackson was high man for the Hawkers with 10 points—all of them coming in the tough second half. Gene Burnett was right behind Jackson with 8. John Whiting hit for 9 tallies in a losing cause of the Delt.

Denny Hill opened the game with a tap-in soon followed by Fueller's two free throws before the Deltmen could break the net on Henry Mayo's jump shot and Bill Smythe's foul to give the Hawkers a 4-3 lead at the outset. Then DTD took the lead for the first time on Mayo's second jumper, and didn't lose it again until there was only 1:30 left in the game.

Delt jumped to a 10-5 lead midway through the second quarter on baskets by Jerry Cornelius and John Whiting. Burnett and Whitehead exchanged two baskets for a jumper and a free toss, but Whiting added another two pointer to close out the first half with the Delt holding their largest lead of the game, 15-9.

The third quarter saw the winners close up the margin, as Jackson, Burnett, and Ron Rawlings all hit for two pointers, Jackson adding a foul shot, while Whiting got the only points his club could garner, on a soft jumper from the foul line, preserving the lead at 17-16.

In the last frame, Delt pulled ahead as Whiting, and Mayo opened up with baskets, and Smythe added a free throw, while only Jackson could score for the Hawkers. Then Rawlings swished through two pretty sets, only to be countered by Parke Avery's two jump shots, as the Deltmen increased their lead to 26-22 with four minutes left. Then came the
